Adam Ross

Senior Associate

Adam Ross currently serves as a Senior Associate for the Houston Office Division of Stream. Adam is responsible for leasing 2.5 million square feet of office space citywide with responsibilities including project leasing and sourcing, and underwriting, and structuring strategic investment opportunities for the firm and its clients.

Adam possesses over 18 years of experience with a vast track record within the commercial real estate industry, which includes office and land brokerage, property acquisition, development, right-of-way acquisition, pipeline condemnation, and financial valuation. Prior to joining Stream, Adam served as the Manager of Land & Projects for Plains All-American, an S&P 500 Company, where he was responsible for implementing and managing capital projects and real estate acquisition plans across 14 states.

Prior to Plains Adam was active in the agency leasing business in Houston with Transwestern and throughout his career has represented, and currently represents, many of the city's most iconic office towers and premier developments.

Currently, Adam serves on the board of the Will Erwin Headache Research Foundation and is the President of the Highland Village Civic Club.
