Kyle Fletcher

Director, IDS

Kyle Fletcher is a Director in the Industrial Development Services division at Stream Realty Partners in the Houston office. He will perform the due diligence and execute the construction for ground-up projects, including industrial, office, healthcare, and retail.

Bringing seven years of experience from the general contractor side, Kyle has held almost all positions starting from a superintendent and working up to a Sr. Project Manager. This experience gives him a diversified skill set spanning across all construction markets. He is integrated into all aspects of the development process, including acquiring all necessary information during due diligence, selecting and managing design consultants, pre-construction activities, cost estimating, and project management. Kyle's expertise in multiple markets provides him the ability to proactively strategize by identifying solutions during pre-construction, as well as the adaptability to solve problems on projects under construction. Kyle has an in-depth understanding of contracts, scheduling, and cost management, ensuring his clients that the project is budgeted and managed correctly. Kyle has completed numerous projects from pre-construction to closeout, enabling him to understand a project life cycle thoroughly.
